Rosebud County is Montana's twenty-second most populous county, with an estimated 9,261 residents as of July 1st, 2006. While Forsyth is the county seat, Colstrip is Rosebud County's most populous city, with an estimated 2006 population of 2,342, compared to Forsyth's 1,898 residents.<sup>1</sup> Other cities and towns in Rosebud County include Angela, Ashland, Birney, Hathaway, Ingomar, Lame Deer, Rosebud, and Sumatra. A large portion of the Northern Cheyenne Indian Reservation lies within Rosebud County.

The coming of the Northern Pacific Railroad helped to establish Forsyth, and the railroad continues to fuel the area's economy, with Burlington Northern Santa Fe being recognized as one of the county's major employers (please note that BNFS is not listed in the Top 10 Employers table because it is not subject to unemployment insurance). Rosebud County's traditional major industries of coal mining, railroad, and agriculture remain the driving forces of the area's economy.<sup>2</sup>
